HEAVY FIRING

Heard In the Direction of Port Arthur.

VESSELS LEAVE NEW CHWANG

Russian Officials are Elated Over the Report That a Japanese Detachment Has Been Annihilated on the Yalu.

Tokio, April 12.—8 p.m.—It is believed here that fighting has commenced on the Yalu river.

It is known that the Russians occupy the right bank of the river in Korea.

Chefoo, April 12.—The steamer Spohsing from New Chwang today, sighted eight large Russian warships north of the Wang Sheng Islands, ten miles from Port Arthur.

The warships were coming from the direction of Dainy. The Spohsing was hailed and her papers examined.

The Variag Raised

New York, April 12.—Reports have been received from Chemulpo, says a world despatch from Kobe, Japan, that the Japanese engineers have raised the Russian cruiser Variag.

It is expected that the salvage of this vessel will more than offset the cost of the merchantmen sunk in the attempts to block Port Arthur, which is admitted to be $825,000.

Washouts Along the Railways

Port Arthur, Monday, April 11.—Delayed in transmission.—Telegraphic communication has been interrupted recently, owing to frequent rains. The railroad embankments in Southern Manchuria have been damaged thus delaying the movements of the troops.

The embankment of the railway running to Shem Hai Kwang, is submerged at several points.

Storms May be the Cause of Delay

Peking, Monday, April 11.—7 p.m.—The report of a renewed attack upon Port Arthur and the capture of Dainy are ungrounded. The Japanese have attempted to do nothing and the situation at Port Arthur, Dainy and at other points is unchanged, perhaps owing to the severe storms.

Jap Detachment Annihilated

St. Petersburg, April 12.—General Kuropatkin's report to the Emperor of the annihilation of a Japanese detachment on the Yalu river, is a matter of general satisfaction in official circles. Again in the view of the authorities, the Russian soldier has proved his superiority in strategy and in manner of attack, which left no chance for a single enemy to escape.

One feature of the message which is not pleasing to the Russians is the action of the Koreans in revealing to the Japanese the presence of Russians at Yongampo, and the belief prevails that the Koreans are not so friendly to the Japanese as has been announced. Incidents such as that at Yongampo indicate that the view held of the Korean attitude is a mistake.

Russian Warships at Sea

Chefoo, April 12.—A correspondent of the Associated Press at Teng Chou, forty miles northeast of here, telegraphs as follows:—

"Sounds of heavy firing were heard at half past six this (Wednesday) morning. The firing was evidently being done between here and Port Arthur. It is believed in Teng Chou that the long expected sea fight among the Maotais has taken place."

The Japanese battleship Asahi was sighted yesterday from Chefoo, flying an Admiral's flag. The Asahi was proceeding from the west and there is no doubt that the remainder of the Japanese fleet was in the vicinity of Port Arthur.

The Russian fleet was also seen outside of Port Arthur yesterday.

Fighting May Have Begun

The captain of the steamer Locksham, which arrived today from New Chwang, reported that he heard heavy firing this morning (Wednesday), between six and seven from the direction of Port Arthur. The firing continued for some time, but no ships were seen. From the direction of the sound he judged the fighting was taking place at the entrance to Port Arthur harbor. The Locksham was the last vessel to leave New Chwang, sailing at the same time as the British gunboat Espeigle, at one o'clock yesterday afternoon.

WAR NOTES

Russian sharpshooters surprised fifty Japanese scouts in boats, near Sunshind Island on the Yalu. Nearly all were killed or drowned. Another encounter took place near Yaluampo.

From the sounds of firing heard near Port Arthur, it is thought an attack is in progress.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Ottawa Correspondence:
 What is really the main business of the present session of parliament, namely, consideration of the amendments to the Grand Trunk Pacific agreement, was taken up when the House opened on Tuesday after the Easter holidays.
 The Premier introduced the resolutions in a short and clear statement which occupied only an hour. The essential features of the contract: that is to say, the provisions for competitive railway development throughout the West, and the transportation of western produce to the Atlantic, all rail, at the lowest possible rates, remain unchanged. No changes have been made in the proposals for operation or control of the road. All changes are on the financial side, tending to enable the company to raise the money necessary to complete its share of the enterprise on more favorable terms than before. These changes, the Premier pointed out, had been rendered necessary because of the change in conditions of the world's money market, which had occurred within the year; since the negotiations between the government and the company were entered upon, the buoyant condition of the money market a year ago had warranted the government in expecting and the company in entering into, the very favorable mutual arrangements which had then been agreed upon. But that buoyancy had given place to depression at the time when the many millions required had actually to be raised, it was an absolute necessity to the progress, or even existence, of the enterprise that the financial conditions be amended to meet the changed conditions of the market. Neither the government nor the company were in any way responsible for this change of conditions, but the change had occurred and must be faced on the enterprise dropped. The government, believing in the absolute necessity of the construction of such a railway, no such conditions as had been secured, believed it to be in the public interest to make the changes in the financial terms which were embodied in the resolutions. The liability of the country was somewhat increased, but even with the increase of liability it was better to go on than to go back. The danger to the possibility that further delay might still further increase the financial difficulties, and also in view of the urgent need of the immediate construction of the railway, it was felt to be in the public interest to make these concessions. They were:

1. The extension of the term for completion of the line from five years to eight years.
2. An increase of government guarantee on the mountain section to 75 per cent of the total cost, instead of up to a limit of $30,000 per mile, as before.
3. An extension of time from three years to five years during which the company might default without loss of control of the road.
4. Instead of the government taking absolute control of the road on foreclosure, thereby cutting the Grand Trunk company out of any interest in the 25 per cent of the cost which it had guaranteed, the company would receive 25 per cent of the net earnings until the government's guarantee could be fully met.
5. The Grand Trunk company is permitted to sell the $25,000,000 of common stock of the Grand Trunk Pacific, but must retain a majority of the power.
6. The amount of bonds guaranteed must realize 75 per cent of the actual cost. This is in case of the bonds selling below par.

Taking these changes in order, it must be said of the first, that in view of the fact that the mountain section of the road is as yet very little known, and as the first consideration in the construction in the mountain, as well as all other parts of this line, is the lowest possible gradient, it is not in the interest of the country, any more than of the company, to rush construction on this part of the road. In the case of the C. P. R., a large part, and the most difficult part, of the mountain section had been completed, or was near completion, before the C. P. R. Co. was organized. The necessity of rushing surveys in order to get the C. P. R. completed in the short time occupied, resulted in an impracticable road, judged by modern standards. It would have meant millions of dollars to the country and to the company had sufficient time been taken to carry the road through a lower pass at the Rockies and around the Selkirk, instead of its present route. No doubt the Grand Trunk Company is as anxious as the C. P. R. to complete their line and will complete it at the earliest possible moment; but it should be remembered that the Grand Trunk Company has put up a deposit of $5,000,000, which will be forfeited unless they complete within the time agreed upon. With this deposit at stake it stands to reason that the company must have a reasonable time in which to complete its road according to the standard desired, or else investors will not risk their money in it, hence the extension of time.

The reasons for the second concession are the same as for the first. The little known character of the mountain section and the necessity for securing the easiest possible grades, make it desirable that where expense is necessary expense should not be spared in the interest of the country as well as of the company; because it must be remembered, with government control of rates the country is in a position to get the advantage of the best facilities possessed by the railway. The company knows no more of what it will cost to build on a one per cent, or less than one per cent, grade through the mountains than the government, and very reasonably claims that it should not be required to take more than equal chances, as was required under the first contract.

The third and fourth concessions are investments in the money market. Under them on a stringent money market it would not be reasonable to expect that the money could be secured by the company for more than five years in case of default instead of only three, and the fourth gives the Grand Trunk bondholders their proportionate share of the net earnings after the road has passed into the hands of the government and receivership. Under the first agreement, these investors absolutely lost their money in case of default by the company, or more than three years. While this was a good provision, looked at from the standpoint of the country, it could scarcely be expected to be looked on with the same favor by the man who by his investment makes his money.

The fifth concession, permitting the sale of the common stock by the Grand Trunk Company, while retaining the voting power, is very strongly objected to by the opposition. But how is the Grand Trunk Company to raise the money which it is required to contribute to the enterprise? The objection which has hitherto been urged by the opposition against the holding of this amount of common stock by the company, is that it may be used to unduly capitalize the road. Under the terms of the original agreement, which still stands good, the capitalization of the company has nothing whatever to do with the control of the enterprise. The road to be exercised by the government. Account is taken of the actual cost of the road throughout its length, during construction and operation, and it is upon this actual cost that the government becomes entitled to fix the rates, not upon the capitalization of the company.

The sixth concession is the most objectionable and the most objectionable and the most objectionable. Instead of the government's guarantee being limited to the face value of the bonds up to 75 per cent of the cost, it is increased to 75 per cent of the cost, no matter what the face value be. That is to say, at whatever price the bonds are sold, enough of them must be sold to cash up to 75 per cent of the actual cost. This is the change which the condition of the money market has especially rendered necessary. Three per cent bonds which a year ago sold at par or above, are now selling at a discount below. As already said in another case, the Grand Trunk cannot receive money from anywhere, any more than can the government. If the road is to be built the money must be got from somewhere, and it is no more than reasonable that the government should guarantee interest on 75 per cent of the actual cost, that is, that the Grand Trunk should guarantee interest on 25 per cent of the actual cost and provide the rolling stock. As yet, the Premier pointed out, it was impossible to say what the actual cost result of this provision would be, as it would depend entirely upon the fluctuations of the money market, which might, and it was hoped, would recover before the money would be needed, in which case the guarantee would be on face value up to 75 per cent of actual cost; but if the present or greater condition of depression existed when the money was actually required, the liability of the government on its guarantee would be correspondingly increased.

These are the changes of importance in the contract. There are two minor changes which do not affect the principle in any way. One is that when the western section is completed, the eastern section is completed, and the company to lease from the government and operate a portion of the eastern division when completed without waiting for the construction of the whole.

Ottawa, April 6th.

TOWN COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the town council was held in the council chamber last evening, Mayor Short presiding and there being present Councillors May, Grierson, Picard, Cushing and Fraser.

The minutes of the preceding meeting and adjourned meetings were read and adopted.

W. Deyl on behalf of the labor men addressed the council, asking that the town bell be rung at 5 p.m. after May 1st, as starting on that date, over five hundred labor men would begin work at 7 a.m. and cease at 5 p.m. The request was granted.

H. Corneau on behalf of residents of the flat, presented a petition asking that a sidewalk be constructed from the foot of Ross' grade to Hardisty avenue and east to Curry street.

The secretary reported that Dr. C. H. Stuart Wade was present to address the council regarding some action being taken to accommodate the large number of British immigrants soon to arrive here. Mayor Short explained that he was in receipt of a letter from the Commissioner of Immigration and that the Board of Trade were acting in the matter. In the case of the council being called on to expend any money it would be well to leave the matter in the hands of a committee. Councillors Grierson, Picard and May were appointed a committee to take charge of the matter.

The appointment of a successor to Police Constable Brunelle was postponed to the next meeting.

Tenders were received from the Canadian General Electric Co., E. S. Harrison Co., and the Westinghouse Co. for the machinery which it is proposed to replace at the power house. The tenders were not considered, being too low.

Regarding the purchase of new machinery Councillor May thought the council should purchase a 450 kilo watt generator at once. The Mayor pointed out that reports regarding the suggestion to remove the plant to a new site would be to hand in a few days and it might be well to delay until this report was at hand. Considerable discussion ensued on the matter and the question of purchasing an engine and boiler, leaving the electrical apparatus for the present, was raised.

On motion of Councillors May and Grierson, the council went into committee of the whole to consider the matter.

The council resumed in an hour and the Mayor reported that they would be unable to give the tenders an answer for a week or so as they wished to secure expert advice regarding the machinery.

Councillor May reported that Supt. Dawson, of the penitentiaries, had asked for information regarding the cost of lighting the jail. The secretary was instructed to forward the list of meter rates. The question of the cost of the erection of poles and lines to the jail site came up and it was decided that the town offer to construct the line to River lot 30, the Department of Public Works to bear the cost of erecting the line across the jail property, and to supply power at the usual rates.

Councillor May reported that with Town Engineer McLean he had gone into the question of a town hall of three stories, including council chamber, offices and police cells and found the cost would be about $8,000. The estimated cost included steam heating. The proposed building would leave a space of twelve feet between the new building and the fire hall, thus providing for any enlargement of the fire hall necessary. On motion it was left with the chairman of the Hall and Market, Police and Works committee with the town engineer to report at next meeting with a recommendation.

The action of the special committee in purchasing the steamer for thawing the hydrants, was endorsed. The finance report was passed and the council adjourned to this afternoon at four o'clock.

—Work is being rushed on the excavation for the basement of the new hotel on Queens avenue. Blasting had to be resorted to on one or two occasions, owing to the frost in the ground. The hotel is expected to be completed by July 1st.

—Probs: The temperature yesterday in Alberta and Western Saskatchewan ranged from 50 to 60, cooler farther east. There are some signs of a disturbance throughout the Territories and local showers are probable in most sections, but the general outlook is for continued fine weather tending to warmer.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

The public school board met yesterday afternoon at four o'clock.
By-law No. 2, providing for borrowing $1,500 from the imperial bank, was passed.

Chairman McLeod of the Committee on plans reported that the committee had conferred with two local architects and had advertised in the Bulletin for plans for the new school building.

A communication was read from Miss Dunlop regarding her appointment as substitute teacher to supply in case of the absence of any of the regular teachers. The appointment was made.

Mr. Ramsey wrote reporting the receipts of the school concert. The board extended congratulations to Mr. Ramsey and staff on the success of the concert.

A letter from A. Beecher, drill instructor, stating that Jackson whistles and band bells were secured for the use of the pupils was filed, the board took up the matter of the application at a later meeting.

Mr. Rice, of the high school staff, wrote re the purchase of a cyclostyle copying apparatus, and was authorized to make the purchase.

SANDISON HALL REMODELLED

The second storey of the new Sandison block has been remodelled and turned into suites of offices. Two corridors now run across what formerly was the hall parallel to the street, and give entrance to the office rooms located along the front and rear walls of the building. The front offices consist of four suites of two rooms each, while the rear row contains three similar suites and two large rooms suitable for office work in which considerable room is required. The centre of the flat is occupied by a good sized room fitted up for lodge and other meetings. The offices are lighted by windows in the front and rear and the bay by large skylight in the roof. The work of rearranging the building is now nearly completed and will soon be ready for occupation.

This handsome block, which was completed during the winter, adds much to the appearance of Jasper avenue and is another indication of the progress of the town and the faith of the citizens in its future. The block has a frontage of seventy feet in one of the most compact portions of Jasper avenue, a depth of one hundred feet and is constructed of solid brick, two storeys in height, with a basement under the entire building. The trimmings are of Calgary stone and the facade one of the finest in town.

The second storey was originally arranged as a large hall and opera house, having a seating capacity of about six hundred, but has been rearranged as indicated above.

Three stores occupy the ground floor. The eastern section has been leased by J. H. Morris & Co., and is occupied by the Centre's furniture department, the basement beneath this department being utilised as a store room.

The central store was recently leased by Mr. A. McDonald, who has put in a large stock of cigars, tobacco, pipes, and smokers' sundries. In the rear of this is a large billiard parlor and poolroom, while in the basement, under the same management, is one of the finest bowling alleys in Western Canada, comprising three alleys and newly equipped.

The western store is occupied by G. H. Graydon, who for many years conducted the post office drug store and who removed to the new stand a few weeks since. The store has been most fittingly arranged and the stock and fixtures installed are fully in keeping with the stand and the progress of the city. In the front is a commodious sales room and in the rear on the same floor an excellent dispensary has been fitted up. The basement underneath is used as a store room for surplus stock.
